

Memo to Mighty Members Tip #171

FOLLOW-UP: Can't Fool Mother Nature

September 7, 2022

I wanted to share additional thoughts regarding last weekend's blog post, Uh-Oh, I'm Estrogen Dominant. If you haven't had a moment to read it yet, please do so now. I'll wait right here ...

Ah, you're back!

My friends, tinkering with our hormonal systems with conventional, synthetic, patented pharmaceuticals can be so manipulative! Drugs often do as they promise, but they don't tell you the whole story.

"Yes, this drug of commerce will take your headache away." But now, you've got a toxic liver.

"Yes, this rabies vaccine will allow your dog to have access to a dog park. But now, he's such a monster you don't want to live with him anymore.

True medicine should have virtue, not side effects!

And truth be told, these problems aren't simply side effects. Often, they are new, lifelong, iatrogenic conditions that are rarely later associated with the cause.

My friends, you can't fool Mother Nature.

We try! We think we're clever. We think we're smarter.

We want beautiful lawns in inhospitable environments, so we slather them with chemicals and pesticides. Indeed, it works! We pump them up with synthetic fertilizer, kill all the weeds, exterminate the pests, and our greenspace becomes the envy of the neighborhood. But then our dogs or family members get cancer.

You can't fool Mother Nature!

"Why am I sick? What caused this?" Look no further than the timeline of what you've placed in your mouth, injected into your body, smeared on your skin, layered on your lawn or inhaled.

This is why — well, one of the reasons why — we often open a case with Camphor 200, one dose, one day.

When we suspect a pharmaceutical has contributed to the development of a condition, we want to start afresh. Camphor has been shown to antidote drugs and provide a cleaner slate for us to begin addressing the diagnosed condition and symptoms.

It's not 100%, but it's a good place to start. And many sufferers report that they feel much improved after just one dose of Camphor! Why? Because the drugs were still acting surreptitiously in their systems despite having not taken them even for years!

But my main point today is we all must take great care with what we ingest, inhale, spray or apply on our bodies and in our close environments. And circling back to estrogen dominance, we must tread carefully to avoid hormonal tinkering or, more accurately, downright disruption!

I used to think intervention with conventional medicine was like a conveyor belt, but now I think of it as a freight train.

So, the next time you're tempted to fool Mother Nature, remember you may be placing yourself squarely on the tracks with that ominous train whistle getting closer by the minute.

I plan to share this in my next blog post, but I wanted to give you a bit more background information as a Mighty Member. After all, that's why you're here!

Recently, I received an email from Homeopathy magazine granting public access to two fascinating research articles. As investigation into nanoscience continues, I have no doubt we will see more and more of these studies further substantiating homeopathy scientifically.

Here is what Editor Robert T. Mathie, Ph.D., had to say about these two articles:

"We highlight in the August 2023 issue of Homeopathy two laboratory studies that add evidence for the existence of physical phenomena in homeopathic dilutions. High-resolution transmission electron microscopy and energy-dispersive spectroscopy studies by Rajendran in India revealed that homeopathic ultra-high potencies of Platina contain nanoparticles of the original source material, platinum; no particles were found in alcohol control samples. By observing the patterns from evaporating droplets of homeopathic dilutions, Kokornaczyk and colleagues in Germany and Switzerland made a phenomenological comparison of a two-compound homeopathic complex preparation with each of its component compounds: they found clear differences between the patterns that could not be explained by the simple addition of the complex's components, suggesting an underlying physical interaction between them.

Please enjoy free online access to these two Original Research articles.”

Nanomaterial Characterisation of Diluted Platina and Alcohol Control Samples

I have placed links to both of these articles in my free Resource Library in The Learning Center at the bottom of the list of Homeopathic Research Sites. So, please refer your non-Mighty friends and family to that public site.

There’s a method in my madness, as that page contains many other articles and resources validating homeopathy’s good work. Encouraging new explorers with scientific demonstrations of this magnificent paradigm is a highly effective way to pass on the good news of homeopathy!

Stay Mighty!
