

Memo to Mighty Members Tip #198

WATCH: Carcinogens in Everyday Products

March 14, 2024

Hello again!

I recently sent an email to my close friends containing the link to a YouTube podcast interview that I found particularly impactful. As I was preparing my personal recipient list, you also came to mind, my dear Mighty friend.

The media tells us that cancer is on the rise and is especially increasing statistically in folks under 50. In this video, board-certified toxicologist Dr. Yvonne Burkart makes a strong impression as she lays out information regarding the carcinogens contained in everyday products in such an unemotional, trained and experienced manner.

Everything around us — cosmetics, water, food, cleaning products and even the air we breathe — may hold hidden chemicals that could endanger human health.

Cosmetics are one of the greatest offenders. You know I only ingest the purest, highest-quality foods, oils and beverages I can find. And because our skin is our largest organ, I have often mentioned that I only utilize products on my skin that I can eat! In fact, I shared my skin regimen in Memo to Mighty Members #35. (Search for it on your Mighty Members' dashboard.)

Of course, we have homeopathy, so there is no need to live our lives in constant fear. However, we can be prudent. Why would we willingly choose to expose ourselves to unnecessary synthetic chemicals that are the enemy of good health?

I encourage you to watch this illuminating video podcast interview and increase your awareness of the hidden perils of our modern, patented, everyday convenience products. Up your game by making better purchasing decisions as you continue to be the healer in your family!

Stay Mighty!
