

Memo to Mighty Members Tip #200

WATCH: "Big Pharma Is Fooling You ..."

March 28, 2024

About a month ago, Tucker Carlson interviewed Calley Means about the dangerous widespread use of Ozempic (and similar patented drugs from Big Pharma) for weight loss.

While one can certainly find the original interview online, I was quite taken with a "reaction" video posted by Dr. Eric Westman, a weight loss physician.

If you're unfamiliar with "reaction" videos, they are a YouTube staple in which an original video is played, punctuated by another person giving their take on the discussion. So, we get the best of both worlds — the original video AND, in this case, a subject matter expert further explaining the interview's content.

I usually give a few bullet points to accompany the videos I share. But this time, because this topic is so dangerous and becoming so pervasive, I highly encourage you to watch "Big Pharma Is Fooling You, and You Don't Even Know It!" in its entirety, without Cliffs Notes from me.

I'll simply share one particularly sagacious statement as Calley Means makes the case against Ozempic: "If a fish tank is dirty, you clean the tank. You don't drug the fish."

Hear, hear!

My friends, stay Mighty and don't take any wooden nickels — especially from Big Pharma!
